

Confidential Letter to Congress

In this letter to Congress, President Jefferson explained his plan to use trade as a weapon in his effort to put more white farmers on Indian land. Jefferson wanted to establish government-sponsored trading posts in the West. He believed that Indians would become heavily indebted to these trading posts and be forced to give up land to pay their debts.