

Pennsylvania and the Federal Constitution

This quotation is from James Wilson's opening address to the Pennsylvania ratifying convention. Wilson, a delegate to both the Philadelphia convention and his state convention, was a strong supporter of the Constitution. Wilson emphasized that the new form of government would be directly accountable to the people of the United States.